

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

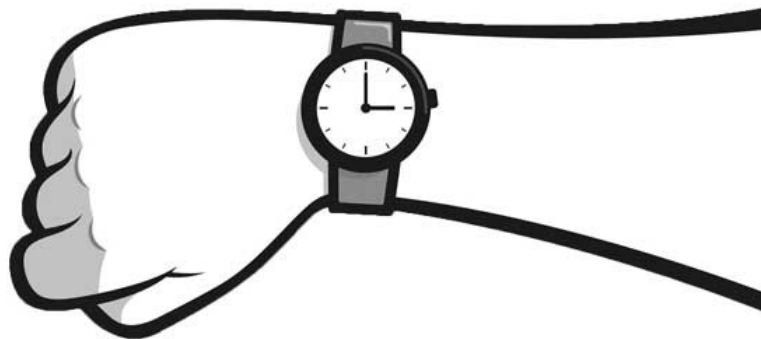

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

All apologies!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about manners and customs.
- I can talk about life experiences.
- I can express possibility or certainty.

Ask your partner:

- What's your favorite sports team? Why do you support it?
- Have you ever been late for an important meeting? What happened?

Let's Explore!

Peter explains why the Red Sox are so important for Boston and the history of the World Series.

* The "World Series" is the most important event in baseball every year.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: I can't believe we missed the first 5 innings! We should have left the restaurant earlier.
- Rosa: I apologize, Peter. I didn't know you were so enthusiastic about baseball.
- Peter: The Red Sox have a long history with Boston. They were one of the eight original Baseball League teams. They had won more World Series than any other team until the New York Yankees took that title from them.
- Rosa: Wow, you must be really proud of your team. Personally, I always root for the underdog. I love feel-good stories in sports.
- Peter: Actually, the Red Sox aren't doing so well this season. They may lose tonight. They had started to win all their games until one of their players broke his ankle and was forced to retire for the rest of the year.
- Rosa: That can't be a good thing for the team!
- Peter: It isn't. He might not come back until next year.
- Rosa: I hope he recovers.
- Peter: I hope I get to see a home run!
- Rosa: Look, Let me make up for being late. I'd like to take you to a new place in town. I had wanted to check it out before you decided on our date tonight. I think you'd like it: it's small and intimate, and the drinks are great. We could go there next Friday. Sounds good?
- Peter: Ok, sure.
- Rosa: Shall we say 8 p.m.?
- Peter: 8 p.m. sharp, please!

Let's Practice!

We might be able to see the game.

Instructions: Classify the following sentences into the correct category.

1. That can't be a good thing for the team.
2. He might not come back until next year.
3. They may lose tonight.
4. You must be really proud of your team.
5. We could go there next Friday.

Possibility:

Certainty:

Let's Practice!

That was an unusual date.

Instructions: Read the clues. Select the correct box. Complete a row of 3 squares horizontally, vertically or diagonally to win.

1. We should have left the restaurant earlier.
2. I didn't know you were so enthusiastic about baseball.
3. I had only seen sports fans on TV until I met you.
4. I had wanted to check it out before you decided on our date tonight.
5. They were on one of the eight original Baseball League teams.

later

the first

check it out on TV

free space

the 8 first

earlier

on the radio

no idea

Extension Activity

Your personal sports history.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a timeline about your own personal sports history (e.g. tennis lessons, soccer, etc.).
- Include the date you started and the date you stopped each activity.
- Write a sentence explaining why you started and why you stopped.
- Share your timeline with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I compile a timeline.

☐ ☐

I speculate about past events.

☐ ☐

I write sentences about past events.

☐ ☐

I share my experiences with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- enthusiastic (adjective): extremely happy about something e.g. I didn't know you were so enthusiastic about baseball.
- underdog (noun): a competitor or team with little chance to win a contest
e.g. I always root for the underdog.
- to root for (verb): to take sides with, to align oneself with or show strong sympathy for someone or something e.g. I always root for the Red Sox.
- intimate (adjective): used to refer to a private space or situation
e.g. I think you'd like it: it's a small and intimate place.
- to make up for (verb): to compensate for something that didn't happen e.g. Look, let me make up for being late. I'd like to take you to a new place in town.
- sharp (time) (adjective): used to refer to a specific time
e.g. Arrive at 8 p.m. sharp, please!

Learning Points

Simple Past vs Past Perfect

You use the Past Perfect tense to identify and talk about an 'earlier past'.

You use the Simple Past to talk about a finished action that happened at a specific time in the past.

When you are talking about a past event, you can refer to something that happened at an earlier time to that past event by using the Past Perfect tense.

The structure of the Past Perfect is:

Subject + had + past participle

I had wanted to check it out before you decided on our date tonight.

Which event happened first? I wanted to check out the place.

Which event happened later? You decided on our date.

You use the Past Perfect tense (not Simple Past) when you want to talk about how long something had continued up to a past moment.

Example:

They had started to win all their games until one of their players broke his ankle.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about the action that happened after that prior action in the Past Perfect tense.

Examples:

- They had won more World Series than any other team until the New York Yankees took that title from them.

Learning Points

Modals for Possibility and Certainty

You can use modals to talk about degrees of certainty.

You use them to describe what is definite, probable, possible, or impossible from the speaker's point of view.

You can use must, may, might, and could to describe degrees of certainty.

You can use modals with the Present Perfect to talk about the possibility of a past event that is not clear in the present context.

Example:

She must have found the situation frustrating.

Must = it's very likely

Must not / Could not / Can't = it's not possible

May / Might / Can / Could = it's possible

May not / Might not = it's possible this is not true

Modal	Meaning
You must be really proud of your team.	It's very likely that you are proud of your team.
That can't be a good thing for the team!	It's not possible that this is a good thing for the team.
We could go there next Friday.	It's possible that we could go there Friday.
He might not come back until next year.	It's not likely that he can come back until next year.

